Sling Design

Round slings are wrapped in a flexible polyester fabric to protect the load bearing yarns from abrasion and damage from UV rays. The flexible polyester jackets are color-coded to help recognize the sling's weight ratings and have identification tags indicating size, type, and capacity. Round slings provide a tighter choke with an easier release.

Please Note: The slings are designed for lifting loads. Before using, make sure that the load doesn't exceed the rated capacity of the sling. Slings should always be stored indoors.
